The LIVING MUMMY

By AMBROSE PRATT

Any man or woman who can set down this novel before finishing it has an uncommonly strong will. The fascination of modern Egypt, with its burning and lonely deserts, a real, intense love between a strong man and a strong woman, a deep, unquenchable hate with terrible resources at its command, and the mystery of supernatural forces combine to make it a wonderfully enthralling tale.

HALLIE ERMINIE RIVES, whose romances have proved among the most popular ever issued in this country, has a new novel, a glowing, passionate story of Americans in Japan to-day. It is appropriately named "The Kingdom of Slender Swords." In dramatic power, in the sweep of the love story, and in vividness of personal characterization it far surpasses her previous successes, "Hearts Courageous," "Satan Sanderson," etc.

New Boys' Books About Flying Machines

Trade Mark Registered

PUBLIC interest in airships will be tremendously aroused during 1910. It is safe to say that with every manual training school, college, and university experimenting in aeronautics, the American boy is among those most vitally interested. We are pioneers in airship literature for boys, and whatever we publish in this field is of the highest standard, both in story and technical detail.

AIRSHIPS IN PEACE AND WAR

By R. P. HEARNE

With an Introduction by Sir Hiram Maxim

WRIGHT AEROPLANE

8vo. 73 Illustrations, Maps, etc. $3.50 net.

New Enlarged Edition of Aerial Warfare
With Seven Additional Chapters.

The chapters added to the second edition cover the following timely subjects: The Commercial Uses of Airships, Aeroplane Progress in 1909, Aeroplane Racing, Aeroplanes of the Year; Aeroplane Records, Future Developments in Flying Machines, The Wright Military Trials, Dirigible Balloons in 1909; and Airship Fleets of the World. The immense practical value of the volume, even to those interested in airships in only an amateur way, is obvious.

JANE AUSTEN AND HER COUNTRY-HOUSE COMEDY

By W. H. HELM

Ready February 11th

8vo. Portrait. $3.50 net.

A remarkably sympathetic study of one of the English novelists most popular to-day. Mr. Helm gives a singularly complete and charming picture of Miss Austen's personality and literary activities and yet does not show that excessive partiality which weakens the appreciative remarks of so many writers.

THE ROSARY

By Florence L. Barclay

“Once in a while there appears a story like ‘The Rosary,’ in which there is but one adventure, the love of the two real persons superbly capable of love, the sacrifices they make for it, the sorrows it brings them, the exceeding reward. This can only be done by a writer of feeling, of imagination, and of the sincerest art. When it is done, something has been done that justifies the publishing business, refreshes the heart of the reviewer, strengthens faith in the outcome of the great experiment of putting humanity on earth. ‘The Rosary’ is a rare book, a source of genuine delight.”—The Syracuse Post.

NOTES IN SEASON.

BOOKSELLERS may do well to remember that about the best "five foot shelf" of travel is a complete set of the Baedeker guide-books. Now is the season of the year to see that you are adequately stocked up with them, before the rush of spring travel sets in.

THE REILLY & BRITTON COMPANY are planning to meet the inevitable increase of popular interest in flying machine literature by the addition of new volumes to both their airship series for boys. The latest addition to the Airship Boys' Series is "The Airship Boys Due North, or, by Balloon to the Pole." In the Aeroplane Boys' Series are two forthcoming titles, "The Boy Aviator's Grit, or, the Aeroplane Express," and "The Boy Aviators' Club, or, Flying for Fun." These are books that will interest every live boy.

THE JOHN LANE COMPANY announce for immediate publication an important literary biography, "Jane Austen and Her Country-House Comedy," by W. H. Helm, said to be an unusually sympathetic study. Also "Indian Dust," a volume of oriental studies by Otto Rothfeld; a new collection of essays by Max Beerbohm under the heading "Yet Again," including one on Whistler; and new editions of R. P. Hearn's important study of aerial warfare, "Airships in Peace and War," and of Ernest Newman's "Musical Studies."

DODD, MEAD & Co. will publish during February "The Fortune Hunter," by Louis Joseph Vance, with plot largely like that of Winchell Smith's successful comedy of the same name, but by no means a "novelization," but one of the brightest, freshest, most truly American stories that has appeared for some time; "The Human Cobweb: a Romance of Peking," by L. Putnam Weale, a story of men seeking great concessions from the Chinese government, and as a picture and as a study of China and the nature of a Chinaman, the book is wonderful, for the author of "Indiscreet Letters from Peking" is well grounded in his subject; "The Eleventh Hour," by David Potter, plays in the time of the Mexican war, and its author has travelled the world over and is now in the American navy, having also fought in the Spanish war; and "Love, the Judge," by Wymond Carey, whose hero is of the self-made financier type, who conquers all things, but finds himself quite incompetent to choose between two women in selecting a wife.

L. C. PAGE & COMPANY announce the following books for early spring publication: For the travel lover, "In Unfamiliar England," by Thomas D. Murphy, a companion volume to "British Highways and Byways from a Motor Car," and "Susan in Sicily," by Josephine Tozier. The new novels will be "Kilmeny of the Orchard," by L. M. Montgomery, author of the "delightful and irresistible" "Anne" books; "Commencement Days," by Virginia Church, a story based on the college play of the same name, which had such a successful run a season or two since; "A Cavalier of Virginia," by Theodore Roberts, a tale of the old chivalric days of Colonial Virginia; "My Heart and Stephanie," by Reginald Wright Kauffman, a goodly tale of love and mystery. Julia deW. Addison, who already has a large number of successful art books to her credit, has completed another careful piece of work on the "Boston Museum of Fine Arts." They will also issue in April a new book by L. M. Montgomery, whose "Anne of Green Gables," now in its seventeenth printing, and "Anne of Avonlea," now in its seventh printing, have cheered so many delighted readers. The newcomer will be named "Kilmeny of the Orchard," and Kilmeny is another unusual heroine who will rival "Anne" in the affections of readers.

Alston, Leonard. Modern constitutions in outline; an introductory study in political science. Rev. ed. [N. Y.] Longmans, Green & Co., 1909, [1910.] 8+79 p. D. cl., 90 c.

Author is director of non-collegiate students in economics and history, Cambridge. This volume is to act as an introduction to such works as Professor Lowell's "Governments and parties in continental Europe," and Professor Woodrow Wilson's "The state." Takes up in outline the typical constitutions of France, Switzerland, Prussia, Germany, British Empire, Austria-Hungary and United States.

American Association for Labor Legislation. Review of labor legislation of 1909, by Irene Osgood, assistant secretary, American Association for Labor Legislation. Madison, Wis., Parsons Printery, [1910.] 40 p. 8°, (American Association for Labor Legislation; Legislative review.) gratis.

Atchley, E: Godfrey Cuthbert Frederic. A history of the use of incense in divine worship. N. Y., Longmans, Green & Co., 1909, [1910.] 29+404 p. pls. Q. (Alcuin Club collections.) hf. cl., $17.50 net.

Mr. Atchley first traces the use of incense in non-Christian and pre-Christian religions in the East, also describing the various kinds of incense used; then takes up Greece and Rome, and finally the adoption of the custom by the Christian church. Many curious customs are recorded, directions from massbooks quoted, in fact the whole subject is exhaustively treated. The illustrations from old paintings, prints, etc., add much to volume's interest. Index.

Ballinger, Walter F., and Perrot, Emile G: Inspector's handbook of reinforced concrete. N. Y., Engineering News Publishing Co., 1909, [1910.] c. 6+66 p. diagr., 12°, $1.

Bartlett, F: Orin. The seventh noon; with il. by Edmund Frederick. Bost., Small, Maynard & Co., [1910.] c. 8+350 p. D. cl., $1.50.

This is an ingenious tale of a young man with theories of life too heavy for his constitution to stand without a breakdown. A friend of his has manufactured a subtle poison which is tried on a dog, and is supposed to kill in seven days to the moment of taking. The dog dies in the allotted time. The hero tries the same means of ridding himself of life, and, of course, during the week left to him he falls in love. To tell what was done in this week and how he managed to live longer would be spoiling the climax.

Bible. New Testament. The magical message according to Iōannēs, (To kata Iōannēn Euangelion,) commonly called the Gospel according to [St.] John; a verbatim tr. from the Greek done in modern English, with introd. essays and notes by Ja.

M. Pryse. N. Y., Theosophical Publishing Co., 1909, [1910.] c. 230 p. 8°, $2.

Mr. Pryse has made a verbatim translation of the Gospel of St. John because he feels that in the previous translations words have been wrenched from their meanings in order to make the rendering smooth and beautiful English. According to Mr. Pryse, this Gospel is altogether mystical in intention and therefore the words should never be distorted for then the mysticism is confused or lost. John, therefore, depicts the drama of a Soul an allegorical representation of the psychic and spiritual processes, of the things done in higher worlds.

Blei, Franz. The powder-puff; a ladies' breviary; from the German of Franz Blei. N. Y., Duffield & Co., 1910. c. 9+212 p. S. cl., $1.25 net.

Rather cynical essays all concerned with woman and her foibles. Contents: Morality for women; On love; On feelings; Delilah; Marriage; Passion; Fidelity; The adventuress; Veils; Flirting; Fashions, etc.

Choate, Jos. Hodges, Porter, General Horace, and Scott, Ja. Brown. American addresses at the Second Hague Peace Conference; delivered by Jos. H. Choate, General Horace Porter, James Scott Brown; ed., with introd. notes, by James Scott Brown. Bost., Ginn, 1910. c. 48+217 p. O. cl., $1.50.

The addresses included were delivered by three members of the American delegation to the Second Hague Peace Conference. They are published in collected form in order to show not merely the attitude of the American delegation on certain of the fundamental questions discussed, but to explain the projects of that delegation and to show the influence exercised by it upon the work of the conference. The immunity from capture of private property of the enemy, the restriction of the use of force in the collection of contract debts, arbitration, the judicial settlement of controversies arising out of war, as well as the judicial settlement of controversies arising in time of peace, are subjects of general and permanent interest, and only addresses concerning these matters have been included in the volume.

Churchill, Winston Leonard Spencer. Liberalism and the social problem. N. Y., [George H. Doran Co., 1910.] 23+414 p. D. cl., $1.50 net.

Rt. Hon. Winston Leonard Spencer Churchill, M.P., President of the Board of Trade, is too well known to need introduction; his career has been observed and followed by many, and the fact that his principal speeches of the past four years are contained in this volume speaks for itself to those who follow England's Liberal party with interest. He presses them "earnestly and insistently" upon the public, leaving his opinions and arguments unchanged, revising only ephemeral matter.

Cody, Sherwin. Geographical reference list and commercial map of the United States. Chic., [Sherwin Cody, 1411 Security Bldg., 1910.] c. 7-94 p. fold. map, 16°, $1.

Cook, S: Newton. Norma Lane, the daughter of an "absent brother." Columbus, O., Wayne-Cook Publishing Co., 1909, [1910.] 245 p. 12°, $1.25.

Curwood, Ja. Oliver. The gold hunters; a story of life and adventure in the Hudson Bay wilds; with il. by C. M. Relyea. Indianapolis, Ind., Bobbs-Merrill Co., [1910.] c. '09. 328 p. pls. 12°, cl., $1.50.

The author of the "Wolf hunters" brings out another exciting book for boys. As in the other volume, the Canadian wilderness adventures are the book's theme. Wabigoon, Mukoki and the hero, Roderick Drew, appear once more. A madman who shoots bears, uses golden bullets in his gun, is a great source of mystery and excitement. A treasure is found, a subterranean world is explored, and an unusual life story unfolded.

Daniels, F: Hamilton. School drawing; a real correlation. Springfield, Mass., Milton Bradley Co., [1910.] c. 156 p. il. diagrs., 8°, $1.20.

Davis, W: Morris. Geographical essays; ed. by Douglas Wilson Johnson. Bost., Ginn, [1910.] c. '09. 6+777 p. O. cl., $2.75.

These essays on geography include two groups, educational and physiographical; the position of geography in schools and academies and its necessity as part of a college course are studied, and in the latter are studies in physical geography. The book is meant for teachers and for the general reader.

These rivers are spoken of historically with many retrospects of peace and war, and anecdotes of prominent families. The author, a contributor to the Military Service Institution, the Scientific American and other periodicals, is a well-known general of more than half a century of service in the army. The inner history of famous battle like Bull Run and Gettysburg are given, and the whole book is illustrated from water colors by the author.

Farlow, Alfred. The relation of government to the practice of Christian science; [reprint from the Government Magazine (revised).] Bost., A. Farlow, 1908, [1910.] c. 30 p. 8°, ea., 3 c.; per 100, $3.

Ferguson, J: W. The way to win. Wash., D. C., Neale Publishing Co., 1909, [1910.] c. 358 p. D. cl., $1.50.

The tale of the awakening of Jack Hamilton from luxury and failure to the realities of life, and of his determined efforts in the West to make up for fruitless years, is interestingly told. The story is the more convincing in that he reaps the result of mistakes, as well as sows for future gleaming.

Foster, Rob. F: Cab no. 44. N. Y., Frederick A. Stokes Co., [1910.] c. 323 p. D. cl., $1.25.

By the author of "Foster's complete Hoyle," "Auction bridge," etc. Two New York financiers make a bet as to whether an utterly unknown amateur can commit a crime and successfully evade the city's police. A young Englishman undertakes to perpetrate the crime, but chance takes a hand and complicates affairs by pointing to the Englishman as a probable murderer as well as thief. Then follow thirty days of mystification for police, bettors, the heroine and the reader before the surprising denouement is reached.

Middlemore, J. T. The navy in the House of Commons. N. Y., Longmans, Green & Co., 1909, [1910.] 8+56 p. D. cl., 50 c.; leath., 30 c.

The navy is spoken of as "in the House of Commons" because of the 140 Little-Navy members, who fulfill their office by ignoring the Admiralty's advice, and compelling the Government to reduce navy estimates that were considered wise. The author was induced to question the First Lord of the Admiralty regarding the present serious condition of the navy, and the attitude toward it in the last Parliamentary sessions. These questions Mr. McKenna answers, and Percival A. Hislam's notes and comments constitute the contents of the book.

This book treats of the fall of man and his restoration in Jesus Christ without theological claims of any kind, written from the standpoint of a layman of the Catholic Church. He believes that in the "strife of creeds and the conflicts of philosophies the simple and fundamental things have been overlooked." These things, on account of the stability and continuity of the Roman church are considered by her adherents, and she may therefore give conclusive solutions of the supreme problem of human life.

First author is professor of physiology at the University of Pennsylvania, the second, professor of mineralogy and geology at the same institution. Professor Reichert began his research in 1902 with the following as his working hypothesis, "if we assume that serum globulin, myoalbumin, and other of the highest proteins may have a similar number [of stereoisomers], and that the simpler proteins and the fats and carbohydrates, and perhaps other complex organic substances, may each have only a fraction of this number, it can be readily conceived how, primarily by differences in chemical constitution of vital substances, and secondarily by differences in chemical composition, there might be brought about all those differences which serve to characterize genera, species and individuals." The blood of about 200 species of mammals and of many fishes and reptiles was examined during the work, the plates illustrating the book, being reproductions of the crystals secured by Professor Brown from the blood specimens.

Author is professor in the University of Pennsylvania, corresponding member of the Royal Spanish Academy, of the Royal Galician Academy, and member of the Hispanic Society of America. Book traces the history of Spanish drama from its origin in the early religious plays of the 15th century to the closing of the theatres by royal decree in 1682. The difficulties besetting the actor, moral, social and artistic, the kinds of plays, scenery, costumes and various playhouses of Madrid and other Spanish cities are fully described. Leading events and incidents in the lives of the principal performers and the leading playwrights, at whose head stands Lope de Vega, are also told. America, with its adventures, scientific invention, and rapid woomings, plants itself in far Japan through a series of possible events. The heroine has two lovers. The villain has made a discovery by which he can displace molecules to such distances that there is nothing left where there was once—for instance, a savage dog. He plots to dispose of battleships through this molecular displacement, and the plan is discovered. Aeroplanes, automobiles, a Japanese girl, a lost father, the mobbing of the villain, and the marrying of the right man brings the book to a close.

A repulsive blind beggar, meeting two Scotchmen on a Japanese road, asks for alms, announcing that for a piece of gold he will call forth a devil. The younger traveller promptly gives the money and the beggar begins his incantations, only to become a raving, fighting madman when his patron mischievously makes the sign of the cross behind him. Turning from watching the beggar's fight, the men discover a small girl picking crimson azaleas. She is unable to account for herself, and is never claimed by any one, so Leslie, the young man, adopts her. The rest of the story tells of her development into a charming girl and her idyllic happy life until Leslie's former love appears and tragedy claims all the actors in the idyll. BIBLIOGRAPHIC NOTES.

THE BIBLIOGRAPHICAL SOCIETY OF AMERICA has just issued volume 3 of its "Proceedings and Papers." The most important single contribution in the volume is the "Bibliography of the Official Publications of the Confederate States of America," by Hugh A. Morrison, of the Library of Congress. Other papers of interest are "Lincoln Collections and Lincoln Bibliography," by Daniel Fish; "Manuscript Hunting," by Dr. E. C. Richardson; and "The Cooperatively Printed Catalogue," by H. W. Wilson.

THE fourth volume of Dr. Thomas Lindsay Bradford's "Bibliographer's Manual of American History," published by Stan. V. Henkels & Co., Philadelphia, has appeared. This completes the work, covering R to Z, Nos. 4528 to 6056.

The Publishers' Weekly.

FOUNDED BY F. LEYPOLDT.

FEBRUARY 5, 1910.

The editor does not hold himself responsible for the views expressed in contributed articles or communications.

All matter for advertising pages should reach this office not later than Wednesday noon, to insure insertion in the same week's issue.

Publishers are requested to furnish title-page proofs and advance information of books forthcoming, both for entry in the lists and for descriptive mention. An early copy of each book published should be forwarded, as it is of the utmost importance that the entries of books be made as promptly and as perfectly as possible. In many cases booksellers and librarians depend on the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY solely for their information. The Record of New Publications of the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY is the material of the "American Catalog," and so forms the basis of trade bibliography in the United States.

"I hold every man a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help and an ornament thereunto."—LORD BACON.

THE POST OFFICE EXPLOSION.

THE postal figures foisted upon the President and the Postmaster-General by Department miscalculation and the proposal to tax magazines a higher postal rate than daily newspapers, now found to have political origin in a short-sighted scheme to punish "muckrakers," have, like an innocent electric battery, touched off a lot of dynamite. The Post-Office system of bookkeeping has already been shattered by the explosion. Cries of "robbery," "graft" and "treason" have been hurled to and fro at the Congressional hearings, and the revelations of the extravagant price paid to the railroads by the Government is likely to be another factor toward turning the House after next fall's elections into an opposition body and wrecking the best purposes of President Taft's administration. It is a pity that President Taft, personally unequipped on this subject, has been betrayed by mistaken figures into mistaken statements, but his calm, wise words at the periodical publishers' banquet in Washington are in golden contrast with the violent storm raging on the subject, and should be generally heeded by those concerned.

It is already evident that no legislation punishing the magazines by higher postal rates can be put through Congress even under cover of the appropriation bill without proving a boomerang to the dominant party; and we venture the prediction that no legislation will be "jammed through."

The explosion is, however, producing good results. Periodicals generally have disclaimed desire or willingness to accept "subsidies," and, agreeing with the President that the Post Office Department should be self-supporting, are willing to accept a rate based on and covering proper cost. An investigation of present prices and proper cost for transporting mail is inevitable, and it will lead to substantial reductions in postal expenditures and in railroad revenues from that source. Co-ordinate investigation of the relations of the express companies with the railroads and each other, if adequate, will result in so general a demand for a parcels post that the political parties, one or both, will be compelled to adopt this into their platform, as in the case of postal savings banks, and the parcels post will in turn make the rural free delivery business a profit instead of loss. This business is now conducted at a maximum of cost to the Government and a minimum of convenience to the people, at the behest of the express companies and other selfish interests, and a climax of miscalculation was reached when of the $28,000,000 loss $13,000,000 was charged to second-class mail matter, which practically does not increase cost of this rural service by a dollar.

The most searching analysis of department figures ever made is that presented to the House Postal Committee by George Wilder, president of the Butterick Company, in his statement at the hearing summarized in these columns last week. It was resented by Congressmen as an impeachment of the Post Office Department, and this is not an unfair characterization of its exposures. Mr. Wilder was perhaps extreme in his way of doing this; but his figures and facts are indeed an impeachment of present methods that must be heeded. Congressman Korbly, of Indiana, has contributed a no less lurid fact by his recent shipments to himself at his home address, probably for local re-distribution free through the mails, of seventy or more sacks of free seeds weighing perhaps 6000 pounds, and costing at the department figures of nine cents a pound $540, of which loss second-class mail matter must pay "its share."

The happy result of the explosion which the President unwittingly touched off must be, sooner or later, a thorough change throughout our postal system, forced on the Government by public discussion. We have already indicated the simple lines on which improvements are immediately possible, and we print elsewhere a form of bill which would be an easy first step in the right direction. The sooner Congress sets itself to this positive work, the better it will be for the Republic and the people thereof, the administration and the dominant party, as well as the periodicals immediately involved.

HAPPILY the Secretary of the Treasury has seen his way clear to offset the apparent blunder in the tariff law with respect to bound books. That it was the intention of Congress to continue the duty on books at the old rate of 25% is witnessed by the word of Senator Lodge and other leaders in the tariff fight in both houses of Congress. The "joker" in the inserted clause reading "wholly or in chief value of paper" was inserted in the conference draft without the real knowledge of those responsible for the passage of the bill. It would possibly have had a boomerang effect, for it indirectly defines the value of an unbound or paper bound book as the value of the paper therein and a literal interpretation might reduce the valuation of imported book sheets to the cost of the paper therein without reference to added immaterial values which help to make a book.

The appraisers at New York held to a literal interpretation of the clause, but a letter of instruction from the Secretary of the Treasury to the Collector of Customs at New York falls back upon the evident intent of Congress, and directs the entry of books ordinarily bound at the 25 per cent. rate and confines the application of the higher duty to books in special and extraordinary bindings.

MR. FREMONT RIDER becomes a member of the staff of THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY as its assistant editor, and we bespeak for him from all members of the trade with whom he may come into personal relation their kindly courtesy and their co-operation with him in furnishing for THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY the earliest, fullest and most authentic information, as well as such opportunities for consultation on larger questions as to make THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY a worthy exponent of publishing and bookselling.

AN EASY POSTAL REFORM BILL.

A BILL TO CONSOLIDATE THIRD AND FOURTH CLASS MATTER AND INCREASE THE POSTAL REVENUE.

Be it enacted, etc.

Sec. 1. That third and fourth class mail matter be and hereby are consolidated as third class matter, under the limitations as to weight and dimensions and the other conditions provided for in the existing law or elsewhere in this act, comprising matter not in the first or second class, unsealed and subject to examination, at the rate of eight cents a pound, or one cent for each two ounces, except as otherwise provided in this act.

Sec. 2. That on third class mail matter within a single rural free delivery route not involving transportation between one post-office and another, the rate shall be four cents a pound, or one cent for each four ounces, except as otherwise provided in this act.

Sec. 3. That the minimum rate of postage shall be on printed paper marked "Print only" or by equivalent phrase and containing no other writing than this inscription, the address, and the name and place of sender, and request for return if not delivered, one cent for the first two ounces, and for other matter of the third class, in which other written inscription shall not be prohibited, two cents for the first four ounces, and in both cases one cent for each additional two ounces.

It might also be added:

Sec. 4. That the Postmaster-General be and hereby is authorized in his discretion to provide for an increase in the limit of weight of third class matter from four to eleven pounds, and within a single rural free delivery route from four to twenty-five pounds; and that he is also authorized in such case to provide that on the excess above four pounds an additional rate of four cents a pound, or one cent for each four ounces, may be added to the eight cents a pound rate between post offices approximately more than 1000 miles distant from each other, and an additional rate of eight cents a pound, or one cent for each two ounces, may be added to the eight cents a pound rate between post offices approximately more than 2000 miles distant from each other; and that he is also authorized in such cases to provide, on the excess above four pounds within a single rural free delivery route, a reduction of the rate to one cent a pound, making the maximum rate within a single rural free delivery route thirty-seven cents for a maximum weight of twenty-five pounds.

PROGRESS OF THE SECOND-CLASS MAIL RATE INVESTIGATION.

THE House Committee on Post Office and Post Roads, which continued sittings during the past week, has decided to postpone further hearings till about February 9, when the present inquiry is slated to cease. A large amount of testimony has already been taken, giving several variant points of view, and developing a number of rather acrimonious tilts between the outside speakers and members of the Committee.

It is not yet decided whether the proposed legislation, resulting from this inquiry, shall be reported as part of the Post Office Appropriation bill or as a separate measure, or even as to whether this legislation shall be immediately forthcoming or shall wait for the collection of the further data which the Committee seems generally to feel is now necessary. A Senate resolution calling for information regarding the comparative rates charged by the railroads on express and on mail matter and for data on the cost to the Post Office Department of handling second-class mail matter is regarded as very possible.

That, in certain cases at least, the railroads are being grossly overpaid for mail transportation was brought out in the hearings on Thursday, and one notorious case—a "bridge graft" in St. Louis—was admitted by Congressman Weeks, the chairman of the committee. Mr. Weeks insisted that this was an isolated instance. Nevertheless, it came out the following day that on short hauls—and on long hauls as well, by the evidence of the Saturday Evening Post—the express companies are able to secure railroad rates which permit them to underbid the postal service rate for second-class matter and still make a profit.

Don C. Seitz, chairman of the Postal Committee of the Newspaper Publishers' Association, brought up on Friday the parcels post question. Why, he queried, should second-class mail matter be charged with the loss on the free carriage of county newspapers and the enormous loss of the rural free delivery service. "Would you have us stop that?" retorted Mr. Weeks.

"No," was the response of the newspaper publisher, "but I think, for instance, that the rural service should be made to pay."

"How?" was the question immediately asked by several members of the committee at once.

"By establishing a parcels post and giving the rural carriers a fair-sized load to carry and the country postmasters enough to keep them busy more than an hour or two a day. The only way we make money in the newspaper business is by working every man in our employ to his full capacity."

It is Washington opinion that this parcels post question is going to be heard from again before the end of the inquiry.

President Taft, addressing the Periodical Publishers' Association at their dinner in Washington, January 28, counselled the press to deal fairly, both with the government and the public, in this whole discussion of second-class rate revision, as well as in other matters in which the administration is coming in for a good deal of criticism.

"All evidence must be weighed broadly," he said. "It does no good to denounce a person on the witness stand if he testifies against you. The evidence must be weighed.

"When you criticise a poor devil exercising a difficult responsibility, first give him the same benefit enjoyed by every criminal—that of reasonable doubt.

"Don't use unparliamentary expressions if you can help it, for if you do, and overload your criticisms with superlatives and with intimations as to his lack of honorable motive, in the end you weaken all your criticisms and nobody pays any attention to you."

NEW RULING ISSUED ON BINDING DUTY.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4 (Special).—In the form of a letter addressed to the Collector of the Port of New York the Treasury Department to-day gave a decision regulating the duty on books and bindings under the new tariff law. Books are to be assessed at twenty-five per cent. ad valorem when there is no question but what they are bona fide books, printed upon paper in the usual manner and appropriately bound. Books, however, bound in style obviously above the trade custom, or markedly superior to the workmanship of the inside of the book, shall be assessed at the higher rate.

The rule says, in part:

In view of the confusion existing in the minds of customs officers and importers throughout the United States as to the meaning of paragraph 416 of the tariff act of 1909, with respect to the duty imposed upon books bound in materials other than paper, the department deems it advisable to issue the following instructions:

The Department is of the opinion that Congress in enacting paragraph 416 intended to retain the same rate of duty upon books in general that had previously been imposed by paragraph 423 of the act of 1890, paragraph 311 of the act of 1894, and paragraph 403 of the act of 1897, and that the limitation placed upon the paragraph by the addition of the words not found in the previous law was intended to exclude from that rate books bound in such fancy or costly bindings as to be imported, not on account of their intrinsic literary merit or their value as books.

In classifying importations for duty under this paragraph, therefore, you will in each instance determine whether or not the books are bound in a manner appropriate to their contents, taking into consideration the quality of the binding and workmanship as compared with the quality of the paper and printing and the character of the text, and you will pass for entry at the rate of twenty-five per centum ad valorem all bona fide books printed upon paper and appropriately bound, and exclude from that rate only such as are contained in a binding obviously as ascertained in accordance with the principles above set forth.

EIGHT million pounds of white paper are consumed by the daily newspapers of this country every day of the year. This means an annual expenditure of more than $60,000,000 yearly for paper alone. About 46,000,000 copies are printed daily. It may interest advertising publishers to know that an advertisement in every United States daily would cost about $40 a line, each insertion.

NOTES ON AUTHORS.

MISS HELEN A. CLARKE, the author of "Longfellow's County," "Browning's Italy," "Browning's England," etc., is also a musician of considerable attainments and the author of an operetta, "The May Queen," which is to be given in Philadelphia on April 30. Miss Clarke, whose home is in Cambridge, Mass., is now at work upon a companion volume to "Longfellow's Country," which will be called "Hawthorne's Country."

DR. HENRY VAN DYKE has been elected an honorary member of the Royal Society of Literature of the United Kingdom, election to which is given only in recognition of exceptional literary merit. Those other than Englishmen to receive the honor last year were Anatole France, Björnson, Paul Heyse, Nansen and Harnack. The only other American member of the society is former United States Ambassador Joseph Choate.

GEORGE BARR MCCUTCHEON is a collector of oil paintings and rare books. In his collection at present are an Isreals, Bosboom, James Maris, William Maris, De Bock, Weissenbruch, Blommers, and Tromp of the modern Dutch school, besides a Harpignies, Jacque, Cazin, Jules Dupre, Diaz, Fantin-Latour and Schreyer of the French; a few Americans and one or two old English. First editions of American and English writers make up another hobby.

AMONG the authors who have again been returned to Parliament are C. F. G. Masterman, an under secretary in the Cabinet. He is one of the big young men in present-day English politics. His book, "In Peril of Change," brought out a year or two ago by B. W. Huebsch, attracted considerable notice. J. Keir Hardie is another re-elected member whose name is on many title-pages. His latest book, "India, Impressions and Suggestions," was also issued here by B. W. Huebsch.

JOHN SPARGO has put the finishing touches to his "Karl Marx: His Life and Work," the labor of twelve years. B. W. Huebsch will publish the book in the spring. The author has had the aid of those of Marx's friends who survive, and the most active co-operation of Mme. Lafargue, the great Socialist's daughter, who lives in France. The book will be fully illustrated. Strangely enough, this will be the first important life of Marx, but perhaps this is the "psychological moment" for its publication.

HOWARD CROSBY BUTLER, of the department of art and archæology in Princeton University, has announced that he will undertake another expedition to Asia Minor for archæological research. He will be accompanied by Charles F. Cook, who received the degree of master of science from Princeton in 1908, and Charles N. Read, who will act as engineers. Unlike the expedition which J. S. Morgan, a nephew of J. Pierpont Morgan, Professor David Magie and Roderick Barnes undertook for the university last year, before the outbreak of hostilities in Turkey, this expedition will be the private project of Professor Butler.

OBITUARY NOTES.

MICHAEL NORTON, a prominent wholesale and retail bookseller and stationer, aged seventy years, died on January 17, at Scranton, Pa.

FRANK J. MORGAN, who for many years represented the Raphael Tuck & Sons Company in Massachusetts and New York, died on January 18 at his home in Waltham, Mass., after an illness of only three days.

FRANK A. BURRELL, a pioneer in the press clipping bureau business, died at sea, January 25, on his way to New Orleans from Costa Rica. He was returning from an extensive trip in South America, where he had been for his health.

CYRUS DAVID FOSS, bishop (retired) of the Methodist Episcopal Church, died from a stroke of paralysis on January 29. Born in Kingston, N. Y., in 1834, he graduated from Wesleyan University in 1854 at the head of his class. After various pastorates he was called to the presidency of Wesleyan, where he remained, markedly successful, till elected bishop in 1880. In this capacity he officially visited Europe in 1886, Mexico 1893, and India and Malaysia 1897-98. A frequent contributor to such magazines as The Christian Advocate, The Independent and The North American Review, he was also the author of several books, among them "Religious Certainties" and "From the Himalayas to the Equator."

LOUIS EDOUARD ROD, a noted French litterateur and novelist, died at Grasse, France, January 29. A Swiss by birth, trained in Germany, and with strongly American sympathies (he was a lover of Whitman and an intimate friend of Henry James), he had unusual independence of viewpoint and catholicity of judgment. This literary "insurgency" tinged his editorship of "La Revue Contemporaine" and his writings. Among his many books are: Essays—"Études sur le dix-neuvième Siècle," "Les Idées Morales du Temps Présent," novels—"Le Sens de la Vie," "Les Trois Cœurs," "Le Dernier Refuge," "La Vie Privée de Michel Teissier," "Le Silence," "Les Roches Blanches," "La Haute" and "Le Ménage du Pasteur Naudé."

PERIODICAL NOTES.

AND still they come. A new magazine, The American Baby, is in the field. It appeals to adults who have charge of or are interested in babies.

The Spare Moments Magazine, of Rochester, N. Y., has been sold by the receiver, Mark T. Goddard, to Charles T. Johnstone, until recently vice-president of the Wykoff Advertising Agency and also vice-president of the Giroux Company. A stock company is being formed and a strong effort is to be made to place Spare Moments among the leading publications of its kind. The purchase by Mr. Johnstone was an individual purchase, and the Leonard Darbyshire management is entirely divorced from connection with the property. John L. Wellington will be editor and Frank A. Wood, formerly of Case and Comment, is advertising manager.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

THE FREDERICK A. STOKES Co. will publish immediately a new novel, "The Living Mummy," which is said to combine a strong mystery element with the fascination of the desert.

A. & C. BLACK, London, are to publish at once a translation—for the first time in English—of Spinoza's "Short Treatise on God, Man, and His Well-Being." The work is translated and edited by Professor A. Wolf.

THE memoirs, (in two volumes,) of Fred-eric Harrison will be published a year hence on his eightieth birthday. The author's laudable habit of preserving diaries and letters should make the work uncommonly interesting.

EATON & MAINS have just issued "Social Solutions in the Light of Christian Ethics," by Thomas C. Hill, professor of Christian Ethics in Union Theological Seminary, New York City; and "Chapel Talks," by Daniel Clark Knowles, selected from the talks given to the students of Tilton Seminary, and taken unknown to the speaker by a stenographer appointed by the president of the school.

G. W. DILLINGHAM Co. publish "A Losing Game," by Will Payne, which can show the certificate of merit of having run as a serial in the Saturday Evening Post, although its plot deals with the inside workings of a big 'bucket shop' run by a young man and a young woman, who worked side by side in a large telegraph office, and longed for leisure, servants and automobiles. They worked out a plan to get them which was finally wrecked by jealousy.

AMONG the new books on the Lenten list of Thomas Whittaker, Inc., there are the following: "The Good Shepherd," by the Rev. George Canon Body, a companion volume to "The Guided Life," by the same author; "In the Light of the Cross," a new series of addresses on the seven last words, by the Rev. A. G. Mortimer, of Philadelphia; "Village Sermons for Lent," by the Rev. J. H. Williams, and "Magister Moritur: a Contemplation of Our Lord's Last Hours," by the Rev. Joseph Hammond.

MESSRS. ROUTLEDGE, the English publishers, tried out a rather original idea during the holiday season. They issued "check books" for the use of booksellers' customers, to be distributed by the local bookseller. Each "check" bore on the back a list of the firm's holiday publications. The idea was that the would-be purchaser should fill out the face of "check," check off on the back the books desired, and hand it to his bookseller. Suitably modified to meet American conditions the plan might work out interestingly here.

It was an unusual pleasure to receive a few days ago the fifteenth anniversary number of the Bookman—"un-usual" advisedly, because each number of the Bookman is a pleasure. In its comparatively short life the Bookman has become so much of an institution that one is for a moment surprised it is so young; its perennial freshness of viewpoint and treatment cause query, on the other hand, if it has really grown so old. The February number looks back the three half decades, a retrospect in very delightful vein, both in illustration and text.

MOFFAT, YARD & Co. have ready their eagerly-expected "Life and Art of Richard Mansfield," with selections from his letters by William Winter, with two photogravures and 74 other unique illustrations, a work to which the veteran theatrical critic has put his best powers, and which was to him a true labor of love. Also ready are "The Fourth Gospel in Research and Debate," a series of essays and problems concerning the origin and value of the anonymous writings attributed to the Apostle John, by Benjamin Wisner Bacon, of Yale University; and "When Mother Lets Us Sew," by Mrs. Virginia Ralston.

SEVERAL of the important influences on our national character which are noted in A. Maurice Low's psychological history, "The American People" (Houghton Mifflin Co.) have never been commented on before. One of them is the spirit in which the original colonists came here. "The American has always been a rebel," says Mr. Low. "He is a living protest. The American has always fought, against nature, against man, against government when that government sought to oppress him." This characteristic has been reproduced from generation to generation and plays an important part in the modern American.

WILLIAM R. JENKINS Co. have just ready "Mon Livre de Petites Histoires," by Agnes Godfrey Gay, in which subjects that interest the reader vitally are put in simplest language and made attractive with pretty pictures, some of them in color; and "Common Difficulties in Reading French," by Charles C. Clarke, Jr., of Sheffield High School, Yale University, in which the subjects are arranged in alphabetical order and at the back of the book notes on syntax have been added, together with a reference table of irregular verbs, making an invaluable book for all persons reading French or translating it into English.

AN unusually interesting contribution to the literature of socialism is a volume on "Men vs. the Man," written jointly by Robert Rives La Monte, a New York editor, and H. L. Mencken, the Baltimore writer, and to be published shortly by Henry Holt & Company, who also bring out Miss Gertrude Hall's "The Unknown Quantity," which may be expected about February 5, in which Miss Hall is said to have told a very characteristic story of New York life to-day with a strong love interest, and a mystery well sustained till near the close. The fifth edition of De Morgan's "Somehow Good" is also announced.

G. P. PUTNAM'S SONS have just ready "The Biographical Story of the Constitution," by Edward G. Elliott, professor of politics in Princeton University, which does not seek to deal with the finely elaborated doctrines of the courts, but rather with the larger questions of constitutional interpretation, many of which lay beyond the jurisdiction of any court, such questions as have been fought out between men. The book attempts to picture through the lives of these contestants the struggle and its result. Among the most celebrated are Hamilton, Jefferson, Madison, Jackson, Webster, Calhoun, Lincoln, etc. Bibliography (7 p.) classified under names of the contestants. Volume 4 of the "Cambridge History of English Literature" is also just published.

It is often said that publishers would make more money if they brought out fewer new books and attended to the sales of the old ones on their lists. This is partly true and partly fallacious, but the fact remains that every publisher strives to run his old books into as frequent reprintings as possible, as this means continued sales and a higher margin of profit than could possibly come from a new venture. In this connection a large publishing house of Chicago reports that it reprinted one book fifty-three times; another thirty-five times; two thirty-two times; one twenty-six times; one eighteen times; two ten times and four eight times. Fifteen others were sent to the press from two to seven times. Out of the list of twenty-eight titles reported only five were fiction.

THAT Moll Pitcher, the brave woman who followed her soldier husband through all the campaigns of the American Revolution, was a German, is one of the many interesting facts brought out in Professor Faust's "The German Element in the United States," (Houghton Mifflin Co.) Her real name was Maria Ludwig, and at about the beginning of the war she married William Hess, a gunner, once, when he was wounded, taking his place in loading the cannon. She got the name by which she is generally known on account of her courage in carrying food and water to the soldiers on the field. "Here comes Moll with her pitcher" was a welcome cry in the stress of the battle and among the wounded afterwards.

J. B. LIPPINCOTT COMPANY inaugurate their spring publication season next week with the issue of Eben E. Rexford's newest book, "Indoor Gardening." Mr. Rexford is widely known both because of his love of "outdoor" life and his practical way of teaching others to enjoy gardens through individually producing them. The information that is given in his books was gained by him through personal work among flowers and garden products, and the methods described have all been tried and found successful by him. "Indoor Gardening" will be uniform in size and style with Mr. Rexford's "Four Seasons in the Garden," issued by the Lippincotts several years ago, and will contain a colored frontispiece, as well as a special decorated title-page and lining papers.

FUNK & WAGNALLS Co. have nearly ready "The Crowds and the Veiled Woman," a novel by Marian Cox, telling a mystical and symbolical story evolved from the great truths, which will appeal to minds which can appreciate Nietzsche, Schopenhauer and Von Hartmann, for it thoroughly studies the metaphysics of pessimism. A book of travel and description is "Types from City Streets," by Hutchins Hapgood; Professor William Cleaver Williamson has prepared a volume of essays entitled "The Good of Life and Other Little Essays," a book of uplifting philosophy will be "Makers of Sorrow and Makers of Joy," by Dora Melegari, translated by Marian Lindsay; "Nervous States—Their Nature and Causes" is the latest work of Dr. Paul Dubois; and there will be revised editions of Morris Hillquit's "History of Socialism in the United States," and Charles Brodie Patterson's "Dominion and Power."

GEORGE W. JACOBS & Co. have ready "Henry Clay," the fourteenth volume in the American Crisis Biographies. It was begun by his grandson, Thomas Hart Clay, of Lexington, Ky., and finished by Dr. Ellis P. Oberholtzer, the editor of the series. Mr. Clay died while his work was in progress about two years ago. In conference with Mrs. Clay at Lexington, whither he has twice gone in the interests of the volume, the editor has aimed to complete it in the spirit in which it was begun. Those who have read the manuscript in Kentucky say that it is the fairest account of Clay's life that has yet been presented. All the new material which could be found has been utilized, including a valuable manuscript memoir of James O. Harrison, Esq., a lifelong friend of Clay, and one of his executors. Clay is made to be a very human, as well as a very commanding figure in our public life by this biography. It is entitled to be regarded as a definite account of the dramatic career of this great Kentucky leader, who was the idol of millions of Americans for half a century.

MACMILLAN Co. announce for immediate or early publication several books of the first importance. Winston Churchill's new novel, "A Modern Chronicle," will be ready in a few weeks; a new volume of short stories by Jack London, to be called "Lost Face," will be published this month; as will William Vaughn Moody's play, "The Faith Healer," recently produced in New York City. Other of their new publications are "The Ethics of Jesus," by Henry Churchill King, president of Oberlin College; "The Gospel and the Modern Man," by Dr. Shailer Matthews, of the University of Chicago; "Kings in Exile," by Charles G. D. Roberts; and "The Last American Frontier," by Fred. L. Paxson, one of the Stories from American History Series. Under the title "Religion in the Making" the Macmillan Co. have just published a study in biblical sociology by Professor Samuel G. Smith, of the University of Minnesota. He describes it as "a fresh study at first hand of the Bible in the light of the principles of sociology." Other new Macmillan books are "A Group of English Essayists," by Professor C. T. Winchester, of Wesleyan University; and "The Religion of the Chinese," by Dr. J. J. M. De Groot, of the University of Leyden, summarized from lectures before students of the Hartford Theological Seminary.

A. C. McCURR & Co. enter 1910 with a strong spring list of twenty-five titles, including half a dozen novels. Two of the earlier spring novels will be "Hopalong Cassidy," a story of the prairies by Clarence E. Mulford, author of "Bar 20," and "Dan Merrithew," a sea tale by Lawrence Perry. "The Cardinal's Pawn," a strong historical novel by a new writer, K. L. Montgomery, will be published in the firm's new series of seventy-five cent cloth books, the first of which, "The Woman and the Sword," was issued last summer. Among notable books other than fiction will be "Bygone Days in Chicago," a series of recollections of the "Garden City" in the '60's by Frederick F. Cook, and "In Closed Territory," by Edgar Beecher Bronson, a narrative of hunting in the closed lands of British East Africa, south and west of Nairobi, the same territory over which Colonel Roosevelt is now hunting. The firm announce for publication before Lincoln's birthday "Abraham Lincoln: the Tribute of a Century." The work will comprise the best of the many addresses on Lincoln delivered throughout the country the week of February 12, 1909, the occasion of the celebration of the centenary of Lincoln's birth. It will be fully illustrated, and will contain a number of original estimates of Lincoln in autograph, written especially for the book by famous men in this country and abroad.

HARPER & BROTHERS are issuing a complete new set of Thomas Hardy's works, of pocket size, printed on thin paper, with flexible binding of red leather or cloth, of which "Tess of the d'Urbervilles" was the initial volume, to be followed by "The Return of the Native." "The Great English Short Story Writers" will shortly be added to Readers' Library. The editors have made selections from authors ranging from Defoe to O. Henry. "The Great English Story Writers," in two volumes, will be the next addition to this popular library. "New York Society on Parade," by Ralph Pulitzer, son of the proprietor of the New York World, full of observations of society, promises to be diverting. The same house announces three additions to their Library of Living Thought: "Diamonds," by Sir William Crookes; "Crete, the Forerunner of Greece," by Charles Henry Hawes and Harriet Boyd Hawes, and "Roman Law in Mediæval Europe," by Paul Vinogradoff, D.C.L., Corpus Professor of Jurisprudence in the University of Oxford. They have also taken over "Florida Enchantments," by A. W. and Julian Dimock, formerly published by the Oting Co.; and the following of Sir Gilbert Parker's novels formerly published by other houses: "The Lane That Had No Turning," "The Battle of the Strong," "When Valmond Came to Pontiac," "A Romany of the Snows," "Pierre and His People," "A Lover's Diary" and "An Adventurer of the North."

BUSINESS NOTES.

NEW YORK CITY.—William R. Jenkins Company, of 851-853 Sixth Avenue, announce that they have purchased the entire stock and the good will of E. R. Pelton, medical publishers and booksellers, of 19 E. 16th Street. The house of E. R. Pelton was established twenty-five years ago. In 1902 it acquired the old established business of J. H. Vail & Co., and since 1906 has been conducted by Edward B. Barnes as proprietor. The stock has been transferred to 851 and 853 Sixth Avenue, where a new large wholesale and retail department for the sale of medical publications of all publishers, both domestic and foreign, has been opened by William B. Jenkins Company and Edward B. Barnes is in charge.

NEW YORK CITY.—Longmans, Green & Co. removed on February 1 to new premises at 443-449 Fourth Avenue, corner of 30th Street, to which address all correspondence intended for the firm should be sent.

NEW YORK CITY.—Jay R. Shipley, law book dealer, 87 Nassau Street, has been discharged from bankruptcy.

SPOKANE, WASH.—Raymer's Old Bookstore has removed from 122 to 114 Washington Street into larger and much finer quarters, and although only half a block away is a much better location, being in the Spokane Club building. Louis Raymer, son of Charles D. Raymer, the originator of Raymer's Old Bookstore, has recently taken charge, and desires catalogues and special quotations from publishers and to see travellers passing through "The City Beautiful."

WATERBURY, CONN.—The George N. Ells Company have moved from Bank Street, where they have done business half a century, to the corner of Leavenworth and Grand Streets.

TERMS OF ADVERTISING

Under the heading "Books Wanted" book-trade subscribers, under their own names, are given the privilege of a free advertisement for books out of print of five nonpareil lines, exclusive of address, in any issue except special numbers to an extent not exceeding 100 lines a year. If more than five lines are sent the excess is at 10 cents a line, and amount should be inclosed. Bids for current books and such as may be easily had from the publishers, and repeated matter, as well as all advertisements from non-subscribers, or those advertising anonymously, must be paid for at the rate of 10 cents a line. All objectionable books will be excluded so far as they come under our notice.

Under the heading "Books for Sale," the charge to subscribers and non-subscribers is 10 cents a nonpareil line for each insertion. No reduction for repeated matter.

All other small undisplayed advertisements will be charged at the uniform rate of 10 cents a nonpareil line. Eight words may be reckoned to the line.

Parties with whom we have no account must pay in advance, otherwise no notice will be taken of their Communications.

BOOKS WANTED.

 In answering, please state edition, condition, and price, including postage or express charges.

Houses that are willing to deal exclusively on a cash-on-delivery basis will find it to their advantage to put after their firm-name the word [Cash.]

 Write your wants plainly, and on one side of the sheet only. Illegibly-written "wants" will be considered as not having been received. The "Publishers' Weekly" does not hold itself responsible for errors.

It should be understood that the appearance of advertisements in this column, or elsewhere in the "Publishers' Weekly," does not furnish a guarantee of credit. While it is endeavored to safeguard these columns by withdrawing the privilege of their use from advertisers who are not "good pay" book-sellers should take the usual precautions, as to advertisers not known to them that they would take in making sales to any unknown parties.

READY THIS SPRING

Whitaker's Reference Catalogue 1910

THE British equivalent of the American "Publishers' Trade List Annual" is issued once every four years, with a complete index to the contents of the various catalogues included. The next issue is promised this Spring.

The publishers have decided to bind up the index as a separate volume, thus making the set three volumes instead of two as heretofore.

We solicit advance orders at $5.00 for the set, which is the London price, duty free, plus the carriage to New York. After publication, $6.00.

“THE TRAVELLERS’ NUMBER”

“THE Travellers’ Number” of THE PUBLISHERS’ WEEKLY, which has been so popular for the past two years because of its wide “personal” interest, will be issued this year under date of February 26th. Its principal object is the exploitation of Competitive Lines in the mutual interest of publisher and buyer. and our purpose is to make it of commanding importance to the trade. Several new features make it of unusual value for reference throughout the year. Through careful extra circulation it will reach practically every possible buyer of popular lines throughout the country

Sufficient advertising support having already been pledged, there will be no increase in schedule rates. Publishers of Competitive Reprints, Copyright Rebinds, Popular Classics, Standard Sets and Series, Rag and Toy Books, Christmas Cards and Calendars, Bibles and Prayer Books, Dictionaries, Technical Hand-Books, etc., will find in “The Travellers’ Number” an attractive opportunity for profitable advertising at the opening of the season of early buying.

Book Trade and Library Helps

ISSUED FROM

THE OFFICE OF THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY

The Publishers' Weekly

Recognized as the representative of the publishing and bookselling interests in the United States. Contains full weekly record of American publications, with monthly indexes, cumulated quarterly, half yearly and annually, news of interest concerning the book trade, lists of "Books Wanted," (an advertising feature which each subscriber may use without charge to the extent of 100 lines per year,) etc., etc. Subscription, $4.00 a year; to foreign countries, $5.00 a year.

The Annual American Catalog, 1908

In two parts: A short-title complete index to all the book publications of the year and a full-title index, with brief annotations of the leading books of 1908. 8vo, cloth, $3.00.

The American Catalog, 1905-1907

Vol. I containing in one alphabet an index to all books published during 1905-06-07; under author, title, subject and series entries. 8vo, half morocco, $7.50.

Vol. II containing the full-title Weekly Record material of The Publishers' Weekly for the same years, in a separate alphabet for each year. 8vo, half morocco, $6.00.

The American Catalog, 1900-1905

Vol. I contains a five-year cumulation, Jan. 1, 1900-Jan. 1, 1905, giving in one alphabet, by author, title and subject, information of the books issued during the years covered by this period. 8vo, half morocco, $7.50.

Vol. II (Supplementary volume) gives the full-title entries with annotations printed in the Weekly Record of The Publishers' Weekly, cumulated into an alphabet for each year, i.e., into five alphabets, 1900, 01, 02, 03, 04. This is planned to answer the demand of such libraries, bookdealers, and others as want the full material of The Publishers' Weekly bibliographical system in available shape. 8vo, half morocco, $7.50. The set of two, $15.

Of the previous series of THE AMERICAN CATALOGUE, quarto size, the earlier volumes are out of print. We have remaining a few copies of the volumes 1890-95 and 1895-1900, bound in half morocco, $15.00 each.

The Publishers' Trade List Annual

Contains the latest catalogues of upward of 200 American publishers, contributed by themselves and arranged alphabetically by the firm-names, with smaller lists, fully indexed, in the front of the volume, indispensable to every one who has any interest in the sale or purchase of books. Large 8vo, cloth, $2.00.

Index to the Publishers' Trade List Annual, 1902, out of print.

The Supplementary Index, 1903-1904, 500 pages, 8vo, cloth, with thumb index, $3.00. The alphabet in this volume is supplementary to the original Index of 1902.

The Library Journal

Chiefly devoted to library economy and bibliography. Established in 1876. Published monthly. Subscription $4.00 a year, postpaid; single numbers, 35 cents. Price to Europe or other countries in the Union, 16s. a year; single numbers, 1s. 6d.

We have been unable to fill orders for
THE MAN OUTSIDE during a few days,
BECAUSE:—Booksellers have been saying:

"THE MAN OUTSIDE is a fascinating story,"—
"A bully good book,"—"One of the best I have read,"—"The kind that will appeal,"—"Ought to have a big sale,"—"Ahead of some of the big books of last Fall. It seems to me that you will have a splendid sale," etc.

And ordering accordingly.

We have now caught up with the orders, and are ready for more.
